Enjoy greater buy-in and cooperation from others

Use the skills you’ve mastered here to persuade your coworkers, colleagues and team members to zero in on shared goals, work together more closely to achieve them and manage conflicts and disagreements more productively.

Achieve greater control over your own emotional reactions

Everyone suffers from emotional overload at some point — but we’ll show you how to recognize when irrational thinking or negative beliefs are taking over, and give you proven tools you can use to quickly get your emotions under control and your thoughts back on a positive track.

Increase your own personal productivity

If you tend to feel overwhelmed when too many projects are “due yesterday” and get frustrated when responsibilities begin to pile up, this course will give you breathing room! You’ll learn how to step back, take your emotional state out of the mix and use rational, positive thinking to adjust your attitude, calm down and take on your workload with renewed energy and smart prioritizing.

Learn to problem-solve like a pro

Conflicts and problems go hand in hand — when problems arise, conflicts over how to solve them are never far behind. This course will give you a variety of problem-solving techniques and tools to help you mediate conflicts, help others rein in their emotions and deal with all types of workplace issues.

Be recognized throughout your organization as someone who is strong, confident and capable

By powering up your emotional intelligence, you will become a person who others think of as a calm, influential leader, able to handle any situation with quiet confidence. You’ll earn the recognition and respect of your peers and get on track for promotions, advancement and career success.

A special MESSAGE for managers and supervisors

If you’d like your people to become more effective communicators, solve problems more easily, work together and support each other, this seminar is a perfect fit. Participants will learn to manage their emotional reactions to various situations, use empathy to better understand where others are coming from and send clear messages — both verbal and nonverbal — that are readily understood.

As a result of this training, you can expect to see less procrastination and heel-dragging, more collaboration and cooperation and greater accountability. Productivity and performance will show marked improvement, as will attitudes, workplace commitment and job satisfaction.

Think about this seminar as a one-day investment that will produce spectacular long-term results in your people, your department and your organization. You’ll be absolutely amazed at the changes you’ll see!
Sign up now for one of the most powerful, transformational seminars you’ll come across!

If you’re looking for a way to improve your relationships across your organization, understand how and why others behave the way they do and achieve greater success in all your job-related endeavors, this seminar is one you don’t want to miss.

Unlike your IQ, which is set by the time you are a teenager, your emotional intelligence (EQ) can be improved upon throughout your lifetime. When you attend Developing Emotional Intelligence, you’ll gain the knowledge and skills you need to transform the way you interact with and respond to others.

You will discover how to:

- Evaluate your current level of emotional intelligence
- Identify your communication strengths and weaknesses
- Overcome personal beliefs that might be holding you back
- Understand how your emotions affect others — and how their emotions affect you

Once you put what you’ve learned into practice, you’ll be astonished at how much easier it is to build stronger workplace relationships, keep projects and workflow moving smoothly, work more effectively with diverse personalities, understand what motivates others — and enjoy greater success and satisfaction in your work.

This course will help you increase your ability to positively influence others, become a more intuitive leader and develop mutually beneficial relationships with all kinds of personalities.

How does emotional intelligence correspond to workplace success?

Studies have shown emotional intelligence can have a profound effect on a person’s ability to create more rewarding, collaborative and satisfying workplace relationships. This, in turn, leads to greater productivity, reduced stress and anxiety, higher levels of performance and a greater sense of teamwork and camaraderie — all critical components of a successful, productive workplace.

When companies hire based on emotional intelligence competencies — such as initiative, self-confidence and leadership — turnover rates drop, productivity levels rise and profits tend to increase.
