Conference Q & A

Why a conference for women only?
Many professional women find conferences and seminars designed for everyone leave critical questions unanswered and key problems unaddressed. This conference won’t sidestep the important gender-related issues you face; you’ll learn strategies and techniques that are workable and comfortable for you. Just as important, you’ll be growing and learning with other professionals who have similar goals — influential women from your community you might otherwise never meet.

How does this conference differ from other seminars and courses?
The Women’s Conference offers the opportunity to choose your own agenda by selecting from eight sessions in two different tracks. The conference will expose you to multiple speakers with a dual opportunity — a major session that includes everyone and “breakout” sessions where you’ll learn and accomplish even more in smaller groups. You simply cannot afford to miss it!

Who is the conference designed for?
It’s designed for professional women not of a certain level, occupation or age, but of a particular attitude — those who are seeking to increase their ability to achieve and succeed and are looking for new ideas to help them reach that goal. You’re part of a carefully selected group of individuals who have received this invitation — women who have been identified as top achievers, up-and-comers and high-potential professionals.

Green Session 1
Assertive Communication Skills

- Enhance the way others perceive you and win increased respect and responsibility.
- Prevent others from manipulating you and stop the stress aggressive people can cause.
