CASE STUDY UNICEF USA

SITUATION

UNICEF USA works in some of the world's toughest places in order to reach the world's most vulnerable children. With a presence across 190 countries and territories, approximately 12,000 employees address five key areas: Young Child Survival and Development; Basic Education and Gender Equality; HIV/AIDS and Children; Child Protection; Policy Advocacy and Partnerships for Children's Rights; and Re-focusing on Equity. In its nine U.S. offices, UNICEF USA employees focus on fundraising, advocacy and educational activities.

While undertaking organizational strategic changes and setting new aggressive goals, leaders also placed additional emphasis on employees' professional learning and development and created a new role to head these efforts.

To support a culture of learning with abundant continuing education offerings for employees,

UNICEF USA researched several national training and development education providers. The organization wanted a learning management system (LMS) partner with a national presence, trainers with diverse backgrounds and rich learning content. After reviewing online demos, attending live seminars, evaluating the quality of various trainers, delving into pricing structures and determining the level of marketing and professional support available, UNICEF USA chose Pryor Learning and its Pryor+ platform.

UNICEF USA completed exhaustive research in choosing Pryor as its LMS provider including:

- Reviewing online demos
- Attending live seminars
- Evaluating the quality of various trainers
- Delving into pricing structures
- Determining the level of marketing and professional support available

Custom email marketing pieces created by Pryor, using UNICEF USA's branding. UNICEF USA used these to generate LMS awareness and engagement.

SOLUTIONS

UNICEF USA unveiled the strategic focus on professional learning and development and the availability of the LMS. The main objective was to drive engagement in five core areas: using UNICEF USA data and content, applying internal tools for efficiency, growing job-essential skills, enhancing interpersonal communication and developing leadership talents.

Pryor, as part of its Enterprise support, developed custom marketing pieces to create awareness of the new learning system, as well as excitement for the educational offerings. The internal communication pieces seamlessly integrated UNICEF USA's branding.

Their marketing pieces were fun, on-brand, engaging and prompted learning options in a variety of ways internally including email, social media, learning calendars and meetings.

“The custom marketing pieces developed by Pryor have helped us save time, increase engagement and be more proactive.”

- Kristi Burnham, Vice President of Professional Learning & Leadership Development, UNICEF USA

RESULTS

- The monetary return on investment in less than one year is 153%.
- The engagement rate is 63%, surpassing the initial goal of 40% during our first year.
- In the first three months, more than 270 employees registered for over 2,000 courses.

WHAT'S NEXT?

UNICEF USA employees enthusiastically embraced the new professional development and learning opportunities. In fact, nearly 50 employees have requested specific course recommendations based on their career goals. UNICEF USA is planning to fully utilize the Pryor+ capabilities to create custom learning paths for employees.

“We have meaningful discussions with our partners at Pryor on a regular basis, in which they provide us with insights and ideas to further maximize the LMS.”

- Sheri Stauffer, Manager, Professional Learning & Leadership Development, UNICEF USA
